

RM-10620 asks the FCC to implement an automatic license upgrade to individuals who have chosen to remain stagnant within the licensing structure. Besides sending the wrong message to those who have worked for their privileges within the FCC's incentive based licensing structure, adoption of RM-10620 would place a heavy burden on the volunteer examineer. In many cases the examineer will be asked to accept an application for upgrading from individuals that have not been active for many years. RM-10620 will compromise the the licensing process by allowing unverifiable information to be used as an element of licensing.